No licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this qualification at the time of publication.

Gain the skills, knowledge and practical experience you need to start a career in a range of industries or retrain for the career you have always wanted with a traineeship from Acacia Group Pty Ltd.

About traineeships

An Australian Traineeship provides a nationally recognised qualification and on-the-job experience. It combines time at work with training and can be completed on a full-time or part-time basis, depending on your employment. Australian Traineeships are available to anyone of working age regardless of their level of education. You can be a school-leaver, re-entering the workforce or an adult worker simply wishing to change careers.

Who needs to be involved?

- Australian Apprenticeship Support Network (AASN)
- Registered Training Organisation (RTO)
- Employer
- Trainee

Understanding the traineeship process with Acacia

1. Once the employer and trainee sign a 'training contract', and it is approved by AASN and the State/Territory Training Authority, they will then contact a selected RTO, such as Acacia Group, to organise the off-site training.
2. Acacia will accept the training plan proposal if suitable, based on trainer availability and location of training/workplace.
3. The trainee will be enrolled and a detailed training plan is established which sets out the delivery and commencement of training, as well as relevant learning modules required for training competency.
4. Ongoing trainer support consists of regular virtual contacts as required and/or negotiated and regular face-to-face visits at the workplace as agreed upon with the employer.
5. The trainee completes their training, where the employer, as well as the RTO approve that the training program requirements have been met, and the trainee has acceptable competency.
6. On successful completion of the training program the trainee will be awarded with an AQF Certificate and/or transcript of units completed.

It is the requirement of the employer to:

- Provide work and on-the-job-training that is consistent with formal training
- Provide appropriately qualified/experienced and accessible supervision for the trainee
- Provide the trainee with time away from routine work duties, with pay, for the purpose of undertaking formal training/learning/assessment activities
- Allow trainee access to appropriate equipment/workplace documents or information for the purpose of completing any required assessments
- Allow the RTO access to the workplace and trainee for practical assessments and face-to-face contact regarding the overall training
- Assist the RTO with ensuring the trainee is staying on track with the training plan and units of competency.

Course delivery

This course can be delivered via correspondence or online theory assessments and on-the-job training. All delivery modes provide the trainees with support through their studies by a team of experienced trainers and assessors, who are on hand to answer any questions you have and provide feedback on your progress.

Theory: Trainees will be required to complete the theory assessments in their own time as well as being allocated time during work hours based on employer agreement. Trainees will also receive regular contact with the assigned trainer to assist them with their studies.

Online: Trainees may choose to do their theory based assessments via our student online learning platform Acacia eCloud®.

Correspondence: Trainees may choose to receive their assessments as paper-based workbooks or fillable pdfs.

Practicals: For practical based training, the assigned trainer will meet with the trainee on regular face-to-face visits at the workplace as arranged with the employer. The employer will provide work and on-the-job training that is consistent with the formal training. Some assessments require workplace observations where your workplace supervisor is able to observe you and complete third party reports.

Assessment overview

- Assessment: The methods in which trainees are assessed may include theory based assessments, case studies, projects, observations and work place observations.
- This qualification is competency based. Successful trainees will receive a qualification which shows their level of achievement for each unit as Competent, unless Credit Transfer is granted for any units, in which case that will be indicated instead.
- Every assessment must be successfully completed to demonstrate competency in each unit.
- If you do not successfully complete an assessment, you will be given the opportunity to re-attempt the assessment tasks.

On-the-job training

Practical training is the part of the course where trainees learn and are assessed in a place of work related to the course.

Support: Throughout the term of the traineeship the trainee will get practical, hands-on experience under the guide of their workplace supervisor who can mentor the trainee during work hours. Throughout the term of the traineeship the trainer will also visit the trainee in the workplace and observe and assess them performing their daily tasks.

Benefits: By undertaking on-the-job training the trainee has the opportunity to put the knowledge learned within the theory component of the course into practice. The trainee will develop practical, on-the-job skills and could make contacts that help the trainee retain their employment once they graduate. On-the-job training is often the most rewarding part of the trainee's course. Working face-to-face with clients and colleagues in the chosen field make a huge difference to career confidence.

Requirements

Acacia is committed to providing an inclusive learning environment. Principles of access and equity for all trainees are applied in all programs.

Education: There are no formal entry requirements for this qualification.

Minimum age: Applicants will need to be at least 15 years old. If under 18 years of age the enrolment form will need to be signed by a parent or guardian. (For Smart and Skilled funding trainees must no longer be enrolled in school, see Smart and Skilled eligibility criteria on page 6 of this brochure for more information). Individual workplaces may have their own minimum age requirements.

English: This course involves reading and undertaking a range of written assessments, as well as engaging in trainer and workplace discussions. Furthermore, the delivery mode relies on the extensive use of written communication.

Language, Literacy and Numeracy: All applicants will be required to undertake a Language, Literacy and Numeracy assessment prior to entry into the course. The purpose of this assessment is to determine whether you may require additional support in order to complete the course successfully. This way, we can tell you prior to enrolment if we are able to provide the level of support you require or if you might need to seek support from external agencies. Applicants will be given 45 minutes in which to complete the written parts of the assessment.

Pre-Training Review: Applicants will be required to complete a Pre-Training Review. Questions may be asked regarding previous qualifications, previous experience and preferred learning methods. This also provides the trainee with the opportunity to ask any questions they may have regarding the course.

Materials and equipment

Where the trainee is completing the training via correspondence or E-learning, access to a computer with internet and Microsoft Office (or equivalent) and a printer will be required. All other necessary training and assessment materials will be provided.

Trainees will require basic computing skills in order to complete the training.
