No licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this qualification at the time of publication.

Gain the skills, knowledge and practical experience you need to start a career in a range of industries or retrain for the career you have always wanted with a traineeship from Acacia Group Pty Ltd.

About traineeships

An Australian Traineeship provides a nationally recognised qualification and on-the-job experience. It combines time at work with training and can be completed on a full-time or part-time basis, depending on your employment. Australian Traineeships are available to anyone of working age regardless of their level of education. You can be a school-leaver, re-entering the workforce or an adult worker simply wishing to change careers.

Who needs to be involved?

- Australian Apprenticeship Support Network (AASN)
- Registered Training Organisation (RTO)
- Employer
- Trainee

Understanding the traineeship process with Acacia

1. Once the employer and trainee sign a 'training contract', and it is approved by AASN and the State/Territory Training Authority, they will then contact a selected RTO, such as Acacia Group, to organise the off-site training.
2. Acacia will accept the training plan proposal if suitable, based on trainer availability and location of training/workplace.
3. The trainee will be enrolled and a detailed training plan is established which sets out the delivery and commencement of training, as well as relevant learning modules required for training competency.
4. Ongoing trainer support consists of regular virtual contacts as required and/or negotiated and regular face-to-face visits at the workplace as agreed upon with the employer.
5. The trainee completes their training, where the employer, as well as the RTO approve that the training program requirements have been met, and the trainee has acceptable competency.
6. On successful completion of the training program the trainee will be awarded with an AQF Certificate and/or transcript of units completed.

It is the requirement of the employer to:

- Provide work and on-the-job-training that is consistent with formal training
- Provide appropriately qualified/experienced and accessible supervision for the trainee
- Provide the trainee with time away from routine work duties, with pay, for the purpose of undertaking formal training/learning/assessment activities
- Allow trainee access to appropriate equipment/workplace documents or information for the purpose of completing any required assessments
- Allow the RTO access to the workplace and trainee for practical assessments and face-to-face contact regarding the overall training
- Assist the RTO with ensuring the trainee is staying on track with the training plan and units of competency

Get the skills, knowledge and practical experience you need to start a career in the care sector with a CHC33015 Certificate III in Individual Support Traineeship from Acacia Group Pty Ltd.

Course overview

This qualification reflects the role of workers in the community and/or residential setting who follow an individualised plan to provide person-centred support to people who may require support due to ageing, disability or some other reason. Work involves using discretion and judgement in relation to individual support as well as taking responsibility for own outputs. Workers have a range of factual, technical and procedural knowledge, as well as some theoretical knowledge of the concepts and practices required to provide person-centred support

Our industry professionals will cover topics such as:

- Work with diverse people
- Workplace effectiveness
- Communication in health or community services
- Recognise healthy body systems
- Work practices for direct client care

This qualification has the ability to focus on a depending on what industry your are working in and what your job role entails. These include:

- Aged Care: assisting the elderly with daily routine and personal care in a residential facility.
- Disability Care: assisting people with disability with daily living, meeting their individual goals and being part of the community.
- Home and Community care: assisting clients to maintain personal care and providing health support for those living in their own homes

This course will take learners from beginner to professional Support Worker in twelve (12) to twenty four (24) months, depending on agreed Training Plan Proposal.

Completion of the course

To achieve this qualification, trainees must successfully complete the required units of competency, as outlined on page 6 of this brochure. Trainees must also have completed and logged 120 hours of work placement/on-the-job training as detailed in the Assessment Requirements of the units of competency. Trainees must be able to attend all workplace visits with the trainer and workplace supervisor on the assigned dates in order to successfully complete the course. Under certain circumstances, arrangements can be made to accommodate trainees where they are unable to attend on the assigned dates.

Trainees who successfully complete all requirements of CHC33015 Certificate III in Individual Support and the Traineeship Program will be issued with an AQF Certificate III qualification that can be used to gain work in a number of industry roles including: Care Assistant, Community Care Worker, Disability Support Worker or Residential Care Officer.

Trainees who successfully complete one or more units, will be issued with a Statement of Attainment for these unit(s).

Course duration

The duration for the course is in twelve (12) to twenty four (24) months, depending on the qualification and Training Plan Proposal set out with ASSN and employer.

Potential career opportunities

Career opportunities within the Care Sector include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Care Support Worker
- Personal Care Assistant
- Health Support Worker
- Aged Care Worker
- In Home Respite Worker
- Community Care Worker
- Nurses Aide
- Family Support Worker
- Disability Support Worker
- Transport Support Worker

Course delivery

This course is delivered via correspondence theory assessments and on-the-job training. All delivery modes provide the trainees with support throughout their studies by a team of experienced trainers and assessors, who are on hand to answer any questions they may have and provide feedback on their progress.

Theory: Trainees will be required to complete the theory assessments in their own time as well as being allocated time during work hours, based on employer agreement. Trainees will also receive regular contact with the assigned trainer to assist them with their studies.

Online: Trainees may choose to do their theory based assessments via our student online learning platform Acacia eCloud®.

Correspondence: Trainees may choose to receive their assessments as paper-based workbooks or fillable pdfs.

Practicals: For practical based training, the assigned trainer will meet with the trainee on regular face-to-face visits at the workplace as arranged with the employer. The employer will provide work and on-the-job training that is consistent with the formal training. Some assessments require workplace observations where your workplace supervisor is able to observe you and complete third party reports.

Assessment overview

- Assessment: The methods in which trainees are assessed may include theory based assessments, case studies, projects, observations and work place observations.
- This qualification is competency based. Successful trainees will receive a qualification which shows their level of achievement for each unit as Competent, unless Credit Transfer is granted for any units, in which case that will be indicated instead.
- Every assessment must be successfully completed to demonstrate competency in each unit.
- If you do not successfully complete an assessment, you will be given the opportunity to re-attempt the assessment tasks.

On-the-job training

Practical training is the part of the course where trainees learn and are assessed in a place of work related to the course. CHC33015 Certificate III in Individual Support Traineeship trainees are required to complete and log a minimum of 120 hours of on-the-job training at an approved care facility as detailed in the Assessment Requirements of the units of competency.

Support: Throughout the term of the traineeship the trainee will get practical, hands-on experience under the guidelines of their workplace supervisor. The supervisor will be someone with involvement in the industry, who can mentor the trainee during work hours. Throughout the term of the traineeship the trainer will also visit the trainee in the workplace and observe and assess them performing their daily tasks.

Benefits: By undertaking on-the-job training the trainee has the opportunity to put the knowledge learned within the theory component of the course into practice. The student will also develop practical, on-the-job skills and could make contacts that help the trainee with their employment once they graduate. On-the-job training is often the most rewarding part of the trainees course. Working face-to-face with clients and colleagues in the chosen field make a huge difference to career confidence.

Physical requirements: Students will need to have a reasonable level of fitness, as the role may involve a variety of physical tasks, such as providing personal care and assisting clients with mobility and transfers, and considerable time standing and walking.

Requirements

There are a number of statutory checks that may be required by workplaces, for this reason candidates must pass a Police Check, Working with Children Check and a Vaccination Check (where required). Trainees may also be required to sign a Code of Conduct and Confidentiality Agreement.

In addition, individual workplaces may impose additional requirements on trainees undertaking work placement.

Acacia is committed to providing an inclusive learning environment. Principles of access and equity for all trainees are applied in all programs.

Education: There are no formal entry requirements for this qualification.

Minimum age: Applicants will need to be at least 16 years old. If under 18 years of age the enrolment form will need to be signed by a parent or guardian. (For smart and skilled funding trainees must no longer be enrolled in school, see Smart and Skilled eligibility criteria on page 7 of this brochure for more information). Individual workplaces may have their own minimum age requirements.

English: This course involves reading and undertaking a range of written assessments, as well as engaging in group discussions. Furthermore, the delivery mode relies on the extensive use of written communication.

Language, Literacy and Numeracy: All applicants will be required to undertake a Language, Literacy and Numeracy assessment prior to entry into the course. The purpose of this assessment is to determine whether you may require additional support in order to complete the course successfully. This way, we can tell you prior to enrolment if we are able to provide the level of support you require or if you might need to seek support from external agencies. Applicants will be given 45 minutes in which to complete the written parts of the assessment.

Pre-Training Review: Applicants will be required to complete a Pre-Training Review. Questions may be asked regarding previous qualifications, previous experience and preferred learning methods. This also provides the trainee with the opportunity to ask any questions they may have regarding the course.

Materials and equipment

Depending on the preferred method of workbook assessment, trainees may be required to have access to a computer with internet and Microsoft Office (or equivalent).

All other necessary training and assessment materials will be provided.

Trainees may require basic computing skills in order to complete the training.
